System Mapping—bring a laptop for this work if you choose

After examining several different models of district RtI systems (now called Multi-level Systems of Support), you will map the support services in your district, including levels of support and decision rules. Critical questions will be identified (ie. What's missing?) so you have a working document to take back to your district for continued work. *This document will be a foundation for the afternoon session on the SLD rule, as well.

Guests: Deb Heiss and Paula Volpianski, DPI Special Education Consultants

Implementing the SLD Rule within a Multi-level System of Support

Given your system of support, where do the SLD requirements fit?

For Title I Teachers, Special Educators, Schools Psychologists and Administrators

We encourage you to invite others from your district to attend this very informative afternoon session. This presentation will be dynamic and interactive, with opportunities for team discussion and planning. Working together across programs makes sense!*

Register for this meeting at www.myquickreg.com. No registration necessary for those joining afternoon session at 12:30 PM. Contact Lisa Arneson with questions at larneson@cesa3.k12.wi.us.
